

Carol Gragg—Carol Gragg has a B.S. in Home Economics Education from Oregon State University. Carol is currently teaching her second complete semester course of FEFE. She taught two years of personal finance and human relationships in Auburn, Washington where it was required for juniors and seniors. She enjoys teaching entrepreneur and family finance courses. Carol and her husband Bill owned and operated a men's clothing store in Oregon for many years. Carol previously worked nine years in debt collection (child support) for the Oregon Department of Justice. Carol believes the success of an individual or family is strongly related to the values and goals the FEFE curriculum represents. She has been actively involved with FEFE for three years. In 2003, she was designated the Lesson Plan Evaluator of the Year.
