

Shelly Stanton is a business/technology teacher at Billings West High School in Billings, MT. She is in her 7th year of teaching and enjoys advising a Business Professionals of America chapter. Shelly graduated from the University of Idaho with degrees in psychology and secondary business education which she earned while competing on a full ride athletic scholarship in track & field. Shelly uses the Family Economics & Financial Education curriculum with high school students in Accounting I-IV, Personal Finance and Technology Essentials. She enjoys the interactive lessons that allow the students to take ownership of their futures. Throughout her career Shelly has been active in several professional organizations including; WBITE, NBEA, ACTE, MHSCA, Montana Behavioral Initiative and has served as a positive intervention and support facilitator for her district. She has also been an assistant coach in the sports of volleyball and track & field.